Why Forged
Wolfrace Wheels manufacture alloy wheels in both cast and forged. Each process is manufactured in a different manner and have distinct differences. All our forged wheels are manufactured in the U.K and form the brand "71 forged edition"

Advantages of Forged Wheels
Forged wheels are less porous than cast wheels because of the forging process. The forging process makes these wheels stronger, more durable and more resistant to corrosion and oxidation. Additionally, the wheel's structural integrity is not compromised. Forged wheels tend to have greater overall vehicle performance and enhanced fuel efficiency.

The difference between the 2 types of wheels, forged and cast is in the manufacturing process...
There are significant advantages to forged wheels such as forged wheels being 3x stronger and 25% lighter.

Lighter wheels can go faster because there is less weight to control. They'll help you speed up your acceleration while decreasing the time it takes you to come to a full stop. They can also contribute to greater fuel efficiency because lighter vehicles use less fuel. Great for electric cars as forged wheels will increase range against standard cast wheels.
